

Contents

Foreword	5
About the authors	7
Acronyms	8
Chapter 1 – Situating the Politics of the Possible	9
Introduction	9
1.1 Situating the ‘Politics of the Possible’	10
1.1.1 WID, GAD and Gender Mainstreaming	10
1.1.2 Gender Equality and Organisational Change
Gender, organisational development and the development sector	14
Summary of key points	24
1.2 The Gender Focus Programme	24
1.2.1 Background to the Gender Focus Programme	24
1.2.2 Characteristics of the Gender Focus Programme	26
1.2.3 The focus of the book: GFP in South Asia and the Middle East	31
1.3 Writing of this book	36
Chapter 2 – The Agenda for Change	41
Introduction	41
2.1 Participating Organisations and Gender Equality: where they started	43
2.1.1 Introducing the nine-box tool	44
2.2 Using the Nine-box Tool: the Process	46
2.2.1 Key lessons	48
2.2.2 Using the nine-box tool: the diagnosis	48
2.2.3 A different diagnosis: the case of CHA	52
2.2.4 Interpreting the self-diagnosis	55
2.3 The Gender and Organisational Change Route	58
2.3.1 What did they want to achieve: setting the objectives and outcomes	59

2.3.2	How did they want to achieve it? Understanding the work plans	62
2.3.4	The Bermuda Triangle: the change model proposed in the work plans	64
	Summary of key points from this chapter	66

Chapter 3 – Making Change Happen 69

	Introduction	69
3.1	The Gender Infrastructure	71
3.1.1	Broad-basing responsibility for gender equitable development	72
3.1.2	Where broad-basing did not work	79
3.2	Making the Work Place Habitable for Women and Men	80
3.2.1	The gendered nature of organisations	80
3.2.2	Getting more women in	82
3.2.3	Getting more women into the field	86
3.2.4	Recognising and providing for women's reproductive role	90
3.2.5	Getting women into leadership and management	92
3.3	Inverting the Change Triangle: the Gender Debate	95
3.3.1	Training as space	96
3.3.2	The gender debate as space for learning about equality	98
3.3.3	'Voice': the other side of the gender debate	102
3.3.4	The inverted change triangle	107
3.4	Stepping out of the Nine-box Tool: GFP as a Tool for 'Mainstreaming' Gender Equality in the Field	107
3.4.1	A different set of tools for mainstreaming gender equality in the field	107
3.4.2	Integrating gender issues in the mainstream	109
3.4.3	Transforming the mainstream: mobilising for women's strategic interests	112
	Summary of key points made in this chapter	115

Chapter 4 – Revisiting Change 119

4.1	The Status of Gender Mainstreaming	120
4.2	The GFP today	121
4.3	Gender and organisational change as a gender mainstreaming strategy	126
	Annex 1- The nine-box tool: framework for gender organisational diagnosis	132
	Annex 2- Maps of the partners' analysis and change routes developed by Gerard Steehouwer	140
	Annex 3- GFP partner objectives and expected outcomes	143
	Annex 4- The context of the partners	150
	Bibliography	157