

Table of Contents

Biographical Note	v
Preface	viii
Acknowledgement	x
1. Developing Tasks of Non-Alignment	1
2. The Trade Union of the Poor	13
3. Third World Unity	17
4. East Africa Needs the East African Community.....	28
5. The Lagos Plan of Action	36
6. An Obituary of The East African Community	43
7. SADDC and The Struggle Against Apartheid	48
8. Reflections on Africa and its Future	52
9. The Establishment of an Independent, International South Commission	64
10. The South Commission on the Major Challenges.....	72
11. The Tasks and Responsibilities of the South Commission	80
12. The Meaning of “Development” and of “The South”	89
13. Africa Exists – in the Economic South	95
14. The Future Development of the South	108
15. The South Commission on the Economic Crisis of the Third World.....	112
16. The Vision for the Economic South	117
17. The Strength of the Economic South Lies in Unity	123
18. South-South Solidarity and Cooperation	135
19. The OAU is Africa’s Only Major Power	139
20. “The Challenge To The South” – The Report of The South Commission	143
21. The Rabbit and the Elephant	149

22.	African States Must Cooperate.....	170
23.	The Building Blocks for South-South Cooperation.....	175
24.	The Report of the South Commission Not “Anti-North” It is “Pro-South”.....	178
25.	Action has to Follow.....	183
26.	The Common Challenges of the Developing Countries.....	190
27.	Responsibility for Development in the South Rests in the South.....	196
28.	National and Collective Solidarity is the Non-Aligned Movement Highest Priority.....	202
29.	South-South Cooperation: A Strategy for Strengthening Solidarity among Third World Countries.....	206
30.	Understanding Contemporary Africa: The Role of India in the Framework of South-South Cooperation.....	213
31.	The United Nations Organization: The Next Fifty Years.....	220
32.	Africa Today and Tomorrow.....	225
33.	Collective Self Reliance Africa’s Only Future Hope.....	230
	Index.....	240